PICKING A TEAM FOR FIRST GAME

Eight Men Placed on The First Squad for Present by Prof. Brewer.

SELECTIONS NOT FINAL

Most of Them Old Men Who Can Get in Good Shape For William Jewell.

"You will have to make twenty-five good tackles to make up for one bad one," said Professor C. L. Brewer in his address to the candidates for the Varsity last night at the Rothwell Gymnasium. "Remember that. There are four or five coaches out on the field all the time, and we are watching every one of you."

"Tomorrow I will post a list of the Varsity men. But the list will not be a fixture. We are only guessing at the men now. As fast as one of them falls down, or as soon as one of you who are not on the list show that you can play better than one who is on—when that happens, that place will be yours. Don't think that because your name is not on the list tomorrow that you are out for good. If you can make good you're not."

Threatens a Shake-up. Professor Brewer spoke with emphasis, leaning slightly towards the men, and glancing over them as he told them what he expected of them. He impressed upon them the fact that he meant business, and that the team should mean business.

"When I say to take a Sunday walk I mean take a Sunday walk. Some of the regular men went to see their girls yesterday afternoon instead of reporting. And when I say meet here at 7 o'clock in the evening I mean that, too. After tomorrow a roll call will determine who are coming out to the practices and meetings. And there'll be a shake-up among those that do not. I don't care who they are."

T. E. Jones, who has charge of the training and conditioning of the men, spoke for a few minutes. "There are three things in the making of a football player. They are diet, rest and work. I will speak only on the first two of them. Mr. Brewer will attend to the last, I am sure." Mr. Jones advised the men to watch their food carefully. All that was necessary he said was sensible eating. Eat fruit, don't drink a great deal of water, and never eat between meals, were the main facts brought out.

He'll Care For Injuries.

Mr. Jones also told the men to report to him any injury they receive, and explained how he would attend to their needs and would watch them carefully. He told the symptoms of staleness, as well as how to avoid getting into that condition so fatal to the success of a football team.

"A Varsity man must have rest," continued Mr. Jones. "He should have at least eight hours of sleep. And, if your studies don't interfere, take a nap after dinner."

Before the speeches by Prof. Brewer and Mr. Jones the Tigers played "indoor football." Signals were run through, and the plays executed on the slippery floor of the gymnasium. Kicks and passes, all the old plays—and some new ones—were run through. Woodward and Hackney alternated at quarterback, while nearly all the other positions were changed two or three times.

Rain Didn't Stop Them.

Yesterday afternoon the practice was not delayed at all by the rains. Most of the time was given over to tackling and running with the ball, kicking, and practice with the line-men. No scrimmage was engaged in.

David Dexter, who has been having some difficulty in having his student card changed from special to regular student, is now eligible. Dexter is a back field man. He is a fast man, and a hard tackler. Another "doubtful" who is in the ranks of the "elect" again is "Big" Anderson, the Kansas City plumber.

Professor Brewer this afternoon picked a nucleus of a Varsity team for the first game with William Jewell Saturday. Eight men will be assigned to the squad for the present. They are: Hackney, Hastings, Houston, Knoble, LeMire, Mills, Pixlee and Wilder.

A new form of physical examination is being given this year to everyone signed up for physical exercise in the University. In addition to the tests of heart and lungs, and the strength tests, measurements of chest and shoulders and biceps are noted down. At the end of the first semester, and again at the end of the year, the measurements will be taken again. This system will afford opportunity for comparison of the development obtained by competitive and non-competitive exercises, and will furnish accurate statistics on the subject.

Paul T. Graves, who played in the Tiger line last year, was in Columbia yesterday. Graves dropped out of school the second semester last year, and is now a traveling salesman. He was out watching the practice yesterday afternoon.

Lester Bermond, the quarter and half-miler who saved Missouri from defeat in the track meets last year on several occasions, is out every afternoon with his track shoes and "M" on, taking cross country and light work-outs.

HIGH SCHOOL FORM WON'T DO

Lieutenant Farmer Refuses to Accept Freshman's Excuse.

A new shade of green was shown by a freshman wearing a red cap the other day in attempting to get out of military.

This new arrival from high school approached Lieutenant Ellery Farmer, commandant of cadets, and said:

"I want to get out of military."

"Have you an excuse?" formally.

"Yes, sir. Here it is"—and he brought forth the following:

Dear Sir: Please excuse John from military work, and oblige his mother, Mrs. I. M. Blank."

"You will have to get a better excuse than this, young man," said the lieutenant, stiffly.

"But, sir, this was always sufficient in high school."

The commandant waved him away.

TWO CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Preliminary Hearing for Dudley Morris and Joe McKim Tomorrow.

Two men charged with assault with intent to kill will be arraigned tomorrow before James T. Stockton, justice of peace, for a preliminary hearing. One is a white man charged with stabbing his 20-year-old stepson. The other is a negro accused of cutting his wife with a knife.

Dudley Morris is the white man who will be tried. He is accused of stabbing Charles Baldwin, his stepson. The affair took place the latter part of August. Morris lives on a farm south of Columbia and has been out on bond since the stabbing.

Joe McKim, a Columbia negro, contrary to the custom of the members of his race, used a knife instead of a razor according to the charges which he will have to face. The negro has been in jail since he was caught. The cutting happened early this month.

High School Has Record Enrollment.

Today marked the highest enrollment ever recorded at the Columbia High School. Three hundred and sixty-two are enrolled. The total last year was 360.
